Goldsmith. It was one of those spaces that ensue when Nature, wearied of the convulsions from which spring mountains lofty and grand, hills rock-ribbed and broken into ranges vast and far, comes down to repose for a while on smooth lawns and crystal streams, whose currents dash in wildness adown the steepes, then tamely ripple through an interval of gentle gliding on their journey to the distant sea. There, in one of those vales of quietness in which nestled the town of Wayburn, where, after having given up our handsome house in New York, we came to live in a little cottage, around which the snow wrapped its great white arms in winter-time; while the cheerful fire glowed and crackled on the hearth within, from which arose a genuine old-fashioned chimney of the Puritan times, where the swallows hold their summer revels to this day. I wonder if they missed me, for my...
