

Government Support to Agricultural Insurance: Challenges and Options for Developing Countries

By Olivier Mahul

World Bank Publications. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 246 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 6.0in. x 0.8in. Governments in developing countries have been increasingly involved in the support of agricultural (crop and livestock) insurance programs in recent years. In their attempts to design and implement agricultural insurance, they have sought technical and financial assistance from the international community and particularly from the World Bank. One of the recurrent requests from governments regards international experience with agricultural insurance, not only in developed countries, where in some cases agricultural insurance has been offered for more than a century, but also in middle and low-income countries. Governments are particularly interested in the technical, operational, financial, and institutional aspects of public support to agricultural insurance. Government Support to Agricultural Insurance informs public and private decision makers involved in agricultural insurance about recent developments, with a particular focus on middle- and low-income countries. It presents an updated picture of the spectrum of institutional frameworks and experiences with agricultural insurance, ranging from countries in which the public sector provides no support to those in which governments heavily subsidize agricultural insurance. This analysis is based on a survey conducted by the World Bank's agricultural insurance team in 2008 in 65...

Reviews

Completely essential go through book. I actually have go through and i am sure that i am going to going to read yet again yet again later on. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
