Excerpt: .and of persons bitten long before the treatment could be commenced, to increase the intensity of the treatment by more speedily increasing the strength of the injections, by more frequent repetitions of them, and by using on certain days spinal cords dried during only three, two, and one days. Thus in September and October, 1886, he adopted the following In very severe and perilous cases this course was repeated even three or four times. It was distinguished as the methode intensive, and among such severe cases it was followed by a marked diminution of mortality (see p. 229). But when it appeared possible that it might be dangerous, M. Pasteur changed it for that which he now uses, and which may be thus The material for injection is prepared by crushing portions of the dried spinal cord, and diffusing them in sterilised broth free from all risk of putrefaction, decomposition, or any change due to the presence of other micro-organisms; and the injection is made with syringes through fine tubular needles into the subcutaneous tissue. For transmissions of rabies through rabbits, in order to obtain the spinal cords required for its prevention in other animals, injections of virus of highest intensity are made through minute holes in the skull into the space under the dura mater or fibrous covering of the brain. The materials for the protective inoculations are prepared in the same manner as those for the preventive, from spinal cords dried from...
